Dear Leonard,

Welcome to the team! We were proud to send out the following announcement today:

The Concussion Legacy Foundation (CLF) is pleased to announce the addition of two-time Super Bowl Champion Leonard Marshall to its New York Advisory Board. A New York Giants legend, Marshall was a two-time Pro Bowl selection and twice named NFL Defensive Lineman of the Year. Marshall first went public with symptoms of Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE) in 2013 nearly a decade after he retired from the NFL. A longtime supporter of research efforts at the VA-BU-CLF Brain Bank, Marshall pledged to donate his brain to CLF in 2017. Marshall is a passionate advocate for CLF's Flag Football Under 14 program which encourages parents to wait until high school to enroll their children in tackle football. As promotor of athlete health and pain management, he serves as an CBD product ambassador for Pharma GenRx. Marshall becomes the fourth former NFL player currently serving on CLF's New York Advisory Board.

We look forward to working with you more closely.

Regards,

Chris
